

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or "fleeting." The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC's authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening.

I personally feel that even current standards are insufficient. The present nature of entertainment and advertisement is such that I can no longer watch events such as the Superbowl without exposing myself to unnecessary and immoral content. If such current trends are not reversed, the impact of media on our families, our society, and ultimately our nation will be devastating.

Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.
